Notes for Della Ann Knight:

Della had been in ICU since the day before Thanksgiving but Bill and I were not told until a week later when she was not expected to live through the night. I was thankful we were there long enough for her to become alert the day we left. Della loved crucifixes and angels and there were several in her room. She liked the ceramic crucifix I bought for her, we talked for while and she said she did not want to die, she said it twice. We talked for awhile longer and I asked her to come live in the duplex we have and let me take care of her. She said she would like that and we could go fishing together. Bill and I left early in that afternoon and later that evening Della asked everyone to go home. She died alone, apparently peacefully in her sleep and the family seems to think that is the way she wanted it. Gary called around 11:15 to say Della passed around 10:30 p.m.

Della was cremated right after her funeral service. Bill and I could not attend the funeral but were there for the Memorial Service yesterday.

As expected, the Memorial Service was very emotional. There was a wonderful photo of Della on a large screen in the front of the chapel. The service started with the playing of "Amazing Grace" while a slide show of Della's life filled the screen. Two other songs were played but I can't recall what they were. Then some of us, mostly her children and grandchildren, went to the podium and spoke about Della's life and her impact on those who knew her.

Angel was crying so hard she could barely speak and I did not understand much of what she said except Della had a very hard life but she always took care of her children and how much she loved her grandchildren.

Dee Dee spoke of Della's strength and kindness and how she was endeared by all who knew her. She said Della liked to be called Grannie and told everyone she met, young and old alike, to call her that.

Sonny got up to speak too. He talked about how his mother loved her children and how much she will be missed but they all know she is in a much better place. She is in heaven with the Lord she love and will not suffer anymore.

Bill and I met Della's other son, Shawn for the first time in the hospital. He is about 20 years old but he reminds me of how Herman looked when he was around 13. Shawn is thin and frail looking and is not emotionally strong either. He is extremely religious, maybe from his upbringing by the people who raised him and he brought several I crucifixes he had made to the hospital. Shawn said he loved Della and regretted not being able to spend more time with his mother and get to know her better.

Angel and Dee Dee's sons also talked about how they loved their grandmother. I was so touched when they said Della liked explaining the Bible to them and they could always go to her for advise or just to talk.

I would have said more when I got up to speak, I meant to go on to say how much I loved her except I was crying to hard. I said Della did have a very hard life, much harder than mine. I told how when we were in an orphanage and did not get to see each other very often. Then I told of how on my eighth or ninth birthday in the orphanage when Della who was about six or seven she spent her nickel weekly allowance on a candy bar for my birthday. She saved it all week to give me and it was very hot that year so Mr Goodbar was melted when she pulled it out of her pocket but that was the kind of person she was. I told them Della was stubborn, even obstinate but she was a loving and giving person and when she loved, she loved deeply. I said she loved everyone there especially her children and grandchildren.

After the service, Dee Dee released a bouquet of balloons into the night air and we all said goodbye to Della as we watched them float away, into the cold night air. As we seldom see each other, we all returned to the chapel so several of us could take photos of the family.
